

Assistant Professor – Cell Biologist

The University of Virginia invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor position in the Department of Biology. We seek applicants who have a research vision that addresses new or long-standing fundamental questions in cell biology. Located within the College of Arts and Sciences, the Department of Biology provides an interdisciplinary and collaborative environment for basic research and teaching that spans multiple levels of biological organization, enhanced by close collaborations with colleagues at our Schools of Medicine and Engineering & Applied Sciences. A successful candidate is expected to establish a vigorous, independent, and externally funded research program as well as provide instruction and scientific training at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Applicants with a respect for diversity and a passion for making a positive impact on the world in a collaborative environment are strongly encouraged to apply. The position will begin on August 25, 2019.

Applicants must have a Ph.D. or other doctoral degree and post-doctoral research experience. A successful applicant will also have research accomplishments and plans of outstanding quality and significance as well as a commitment to excellence in teaching and mentoring. Commitment to participate in and further develop a diverse, collegial, interdisciplinary, and collaborative environment is strongly preferred.
