31st Katz Symposium
Wednesday April 29th, 2015
Biology Distinguished Major Talks
Gilmer 190

2:00 pm: Introduction & Appreciation of Richard D. Katz: Prof Reg Garrett 2:05-~4:20 pm:

Meredith Zettlemoyer: The Influence Of Local Environmental Conditions On The Phenological Development Of Campanulastrum Americanum

Ashley O'Keefe- The Origin of the Perineurium: The Role of Nkx2.2 in Mammalian Nerve Development

Janice Park: Therapeutic Potential of Adipose-Derived Pericytes in Diabetic Retinopathy

Suemin Kim: The Influence of TNFR Family Members on the Development of Peripheral Nervous System

Ed Schrom - Inducible Defenses, Generalist Herbivores, and the Success of Invasive Plants

Kevin Lopez - The Presence of Chimeric RNA in Noncancerous Cells

Carey Stewart - The Molecular Epidemiology of E. histolytica: Genotyping Assay Development and Cylicin as an infection-mediating gene candidate

Kelsie Hunnicutt- The Correlation between Variation in Early-Life Traits and the Rate of Inbreeding in Mimulus ringens

Lee Graves- Peptide-Infused Alendronate: A Novel Treatment Idea for Osteoarthritis

~4:30pm: Reception and Awards Ceremony

Poster Art: Rachel Llaneras